LUCAS'S DEATH HAS DAZED CLUB OWNERS

Three Magnates Confer, but High Private, Favorite for Big Reach No Decision on New resident W. H. Lucas of the Union asociation has added to the uncertainty which surrounds the future of that organization. Rumored changes in next year's circuit have been frequent, but well-informed fans do not anticipate any change in the lineup of towns composing the league. John J. McCloskey of Ogden and President Murphy of the Butte club were in Salt Lake City yesterday and conferred with President D. G. Cooley of the local club. The three magnates were unanimous in stating that no plan of action was decided on and that the matter will be decided on at the annual meeting to be held at an early date.

plan of action was decided on and that the matter will be decided on at the annual meeting to be held at an early date.

The question of a successor to the late executive was not discussed at yesterday's conference, according to the statement of the Butte, Ogden and Salt Lake magnates. The death of President Lucas was so unexpected that the club owners have not yet recovered from the shock sufficiently to plan for the future. For the present, Vice President's office. The league directors probably will meet within a formight's time to decide on the successor to Lucas.

Rumors emanating from the northern end of the circuit that Salt Lake and Ogden may be dropped from the association may be discounted in advance of the meeting. Section 10 of article 7 of the league constitution provides for "a unanimous vote of the remaining clubs" to terminate the membership of any club in the association. The Salt Lake and Ogden managements have only to stand together to defeat any plan for a reduction of the circuit, and it is safe to assume that Cooley and McCloskey have an understanding on that point.

The friends and admirers of "Billy" or, the former Salt Lake shortstop, now with Sacramento in the Coast league, will be gratified to learn of his being drafted yesterday by the Philadelphia American league club.
